VOLTURNO DISASTER.

THE CAPTAIN'S STORY.

Reuter's.
[Service to the "Telegraph."]
London, Received Oct. 16.
Reuter's correspondent at New York states that Captain Inch of the Volturmo has sent a story of the disaster by wireless. The watch below was burned to death, boats smashed.
After a series of explosions in the fire-castle, he ordered the boats to be swung out. Two were smashed and a third was lowered into the water, with cabin passengers. It capsized and some of the crew re-entered it.
Boat Wrecked.
A fourth boat, full of steerage passengers got off safely, and a fifth got under the stern and was wrecked. They ceased getting out boats, after communicating with the Carmania, when the flames had apparently subsided.
Fire Gets Worse.
Subsequently the fire got worse and spread aft, but this fact was kept from the passengers who were quiet all night while Captain Inch and the crew worked all night long to make rafts in case the fire broke out aft.
When the passengers disembarked in the morning they were most orderly and there was no panic.

CANCER AND RADIUM.

Experiments at a London Hospital.

A series of most remarkable improvements in advanced cancer cases treated by radium has taken place in the past six months in the Cancer Research wards of the Middlesex Hospital says the Daily Mail medical correspondent.
In an interview one of the surgical staff accentuated the necessity for using the word "improvement" instead of "cure." "We do not maintain here that we have cured these cases by radium. What we have done is to cause growths proved microscopically to be cancerous to disappear in a truly astounding way under the radium rays."
The following brief histories were permitted to copy from the case note-book of the hospital. In these, as in a dozen other cases, of which they are typical examples, the cancerous nature of the growth has been placed beyond doubt by careful microscopic examination.
Hearing Regained.
1. A man, twenty-seven, from Dover. Admitted August 25 with a large sarcomatous growth (cancer) blocking up the back of the nose and throat behind the soft palate. He lost all sense of smell, could not breathe through the nose, and was deaf in the right ear through the growth obstructing the tiny air tube which connects the back of the throat with the ear.
A platinum tube containing eighty-two milligrams of radium was embedded in the tumour and left in position twelve hours. Five days later the growth had shrunk perceptibly and the sense of smell and ability to breathe through the nose were regained. On September 16, on examination with a laryngoscope, no traces of growth could be found and the patient, who had regained his complete hearing, was discharged, apparently cured.
Gain of 14½ lb. Weight.
2. This case, equally interesting, is still in the hospital. The patient is a woman of twenty-five, suffering from a large abdominal sarcoma (connective tissue cancer) extending from the top of the left thighbone well over to the right of the middle line of the abdomen.
Twelve days ago an incision was made down to the growth and a platinum tube containing 144 milligrams of radium (all that the hospital possesses) was embedded in the tumour and left for twenty-four hours. On admission the patient weighed 6st. 10lb. Yesterday her weight had risen to 6st. 10½lb. and the tumour had shrunk to half its size on admission.

ELECTIONS NOT RECOGNISED.

Reuter's.
[Service to the "Telegraph."]
London, Received Oct. 16.
Reuter's correspondent at Washington states that owing to the practical dictatorship of President Huerta, America has formally notified Mexico that she will not recognize the elections, to be held on October 28, as constitutional.

AMERICAN MUSEUM.

ART COLLECTION PRESENTED.

London, Received Oct. 15.
Reuter's correspondent at New York says it is reported that a storekeeper, named Benjamin Altman has bequeathed to the Metropolitan Museum his art collection valued at three millions sterling.

to 6st. 10½lb. and the tumour had shrunk to half its size on admission.

Apparent Tongue Cure.

3. This case was that of a dispenser at one of the special hospitals in London. Noticing a hard growth on the back of his tongue he was examined by a surgeon at one of the largest London general hospitals and was told that the growth was an epithelioma (cancer) of the tongue, and was so far advanced as to be inoperable. He was admitted to the Cancer Research Wards of the Middlesex Hospital on July 21; eighty-two milligrams of radium in a platinum tube were imbedded in the centre of the growth at the base of the tongue. Three weeks later no signs of the tongue growth could be observed, and the patient was discharged apparently cured except for the presence of two or three granularly involved glands about the collar bone, which are to be surgically removed later if necessary.
"While we claim no cures," one of the staff stated "our recent results have been tremendously encouraging, thanks, we are convinced, to improved technique, the result of the research work we are doing here. We are always, however, handicapped by lack of sufficient radium. We own but 144 milligrams and sometimes one patient may be using the whole of this for twenty-four hours at a stretch, which means that no one else can be having any treatment during this time. There are hundreds of patients waiting their turn on the list for treatment. Another reason why there is crying need for more radium is that small doses do no good."

BEST MOTOR BOAT.

International Race won by Britain.

The British racing motor-boat Maple Leaf IV, owned by Mr. Mackay Edgar and driven by Mr. T. O. M. Sopwith, the aviator, on September 13, secured for the United Kingdom the British International Harmsworth Trophy for motor-boats. This victory places the United Kingdom one point ahead in the annual struggle for the trophy.
When this year's race started on September 11, on a 324 miles course between Cowes and Ryde, the United States had won four times and the United Kingdom four times since the trophy was presented in 1903. France had won once. By her win on September 13, Maple Leaf IV repeated her triumph of last year, when she recovered the trophy from the Americans.

BALKAN TRUCE.

MORE FIGHT NO.

Reuter's.
[Service to the "Telegraph."]
London, Received Oct. 16.
Reuter's correspondent at Vienna states that the Sublimes Porte reports a sanguinary fight between the Greek and Turkish troops near Xanthi. The Greeks drove back the Turks and occupied Kojumkeui.
Closing the Dardanelles.
Reuter's correspondent at Constantinople reports that the government, fearing a sudden Greek raid has decided to close the Dardanelles except for two hours daily. It is believed the expulsion of Greek subjects at Constantinople is contemplated in the event of further provocation by the Greek government and the Press.

Two days earlier the French boat Despujols II, was successful. She completed the course in 41min. 34sec., giving an average speed of 48.77 knots, or about 52 miles an hour. This was a record for the race. Maple Leaf IV. was only sixteen seconds behind the winner.

Next Day Maple Leaf IV. reversed the positions easily, beating Despujols I. (France). She also created a new record by covering the course in 39min. 28.3-sec., which works out at an average speed of just over 56 miles an hour.

On the 13th ult. with her powerful engines running superbly, Maple Leaf IV. clinched matters by securing the second victory necessary for holding the cup. The final positions were:

Maple Leaf IV. (Great Britain). 40min. 10.2-sec.
Ankle Deep (America) 43 min. 29-sec.

Crusader (Great Britain), 48 min. 30.2-sec.

Despujols I. (France), Disturber III. (America), and Izme (Great Britain) did not complete the course.

The races have proved Maple Leaf IV. to be the fastest sea motor-racing boat in the world. Her victory on the last day in a choppy sea was gained with the greatest ease. While the small 400-h.p. French boat was jumping like a rocking-horse, the heavier 750-h.p. Leaf was as steady as a pleasure boat. A large crowd witnessed the race from the Embankment, the floating clubhouses of the Royal Motor Yacht Club, and Sir Thomas Lipton's steam yacht Erin, the permission to use which in connection with the race has placed the club under a debt of gratitude to Sir Thomas. Misfortune befell France early, for Despujols 7, got over the starting line before time. This was a bitter disappointment to the French enthusiasts, for it meant that the boat would have to complete a full extra round.
But Maple Leaf, which, as usual, crossed the starting line last, proved conclusively that she was the better boat. Discussing the achievements of the boat, Mr. Sopwith stated that for the last three months mechanics have been tending her engines night and day. No racehorse had ever such close attention, he declared. She had had trial after trial.
After the race Mr. F. P. Armstrong presented the Harmsworth trophy to the owner of the British boat, and on behalf of Lord Northcliffe, the donor, paid a tribute to the high sporting qualities of the challengers, the United States and France. Representatives of these two countries, in reply, spoke in high terms of the way in which the contest had been conducted, and declared that the best boat had won.

[Service to the "Telegraph."]

The Dublin employers in reply to Sir G. R. Asquith's report refuse to recognise the men's union until it has been properly reorganised in view of the non-observance of agreements.

TOO MUCH RUBBER.

From 12s. 9d. to 2s. 2 Pound.

One of the largest auction sales of plantation rubber ever held in London will take place next week says the Daily Mail of September 18. About 1,500 tons of the product are expected to be offered for sale, and shareholders of the producing companies may be justified in awaiting the results with feelings akin to dismay.

Plantation rubber has been a falling market throughout the year. From over 4s. 8d. per pound in January, the price has been persistently dwindled to its present quotation of 2s., and it is by no means certain that the full extent of the decline has yet been reached.

What the fall has meant to the producing companies has already been seen in the many drastic dividend reductions. One prominent case is that of the Linggi Company, whose two last interim dividends were of only 15 per cent. each, as compared with a distribution of 33 1-3 per cent. for each of the corresponding periods of 1912. The value of the shares has been more than halved. Earlier in the year they stood at 30s.; to-day they are quoted at around 13s. The best-class shares have all suffered in the same way, and it is said that many of them are now hardly saleable at current quotations.

The course of plantation rubber prices before and since the boom period has been as follows:—

	Highest.	Lowest.
1909	9 8	5 3
1910	12 9	5 7
1911	7 3	4 6
1912	5 0	4 1

Rubber at Cost of Production.

A further fall in the price of the product would be disastrous. Many of the plantations can scarcely produce a profit at much under 2s. per pound, and it is safe to assume that many of them would have to suspend operations rather than work at a loss. In this fact, however, lies one of the chief hopes for an upward reaction in prices, as equilibrium might be restored through the check to production. Further heavy losses would, at the same time, be spread among the hundreds of unfortunate shareholders who have been holding on in the hope of a revival.

The "slump" has been explained in a variety of ways. First and foremost, of course, is the largely increased production, though even in relation to this the position is debatable. Visible supplies of rubber are not excessive. At the end of last month they amounted to 13,900 tons, whereas in May last the total was 17,619 tons, and in February 17,583 tons. Stocks in hand to-day amount to only about two months of the world's consumption. Concealed stocks may exist, but failing this, it is argued, and apparently with reason, that the "slump" cannot well be explained on ordinary economic grounds.

For the large proportions of the forthcoming auction sale the inactivity of the private market is mainly responsible. And as to this there arise a number of interesting questions, striking, it may be, at the root of the whole matter.

Wheat Stack.

A stack of wheat believed to be of record size has been erected in one day in a field at Steple Morden. Containing the produce of one field of 400 acres, the stack is 200ft. long. Over 200 men and boys, four elevators, and a great number of horses and carts were employed in the construction.

Golfers' Experience.

Mr Edward Bohana, secretary of the Lancashire Agricultural Society, who skilled a seagull while driving on Cleveleys Golf Links. Blackpool, later holed out the 18th hole in one—a distance of 183 yards. This is the first time in the twelve years' existence of the course that any hole has been done in one.

Alleged Insurance Frauds.

At Bolton James Vose, an insurance superintendent, formerly a member of the town council, was remanded on the charge of fraudulently obtaining money from the Britannia Assurance Company, by whom he was employed, by means of false death certificates. A second accused man, Dr. Ryan, is also under remand.

Women Mount Guard.

The parish church of Brentwood (Essex) has been placed under the most adequate of all guards against suffragettes. Every hour of the day several lady watchers are on duty. Any watcher observing suffragettes or other persons attempting to damage the building will immediately toll the church bell. The police will understand its meaning and act promptly.

Burglars' Test.

Silver worth several hundred pounds was stolen in daylight from the factory of Messrs Martin Hall and Co., silversmiths and cutlers, at Birmingham. The thieves cleared the workshop of silver ingots and sold silver goods and had apparently tested the quality of the metal with a solution, traces of which were found. Two men wearing aprons were seen loading a trap with sacks in the early morning, but were thought to be workmen employed by the firm.

The Royal Pavilion.

The Brighton Town Council propose to spend £1,500 upon alterations to the interior of the Royal Pavilion, transforming the "Red Drawing-room" into a lounge and improving the cloak-room accommodation. The work, which is to be completed in time for the ball season, will be carried out in harmony with the style of the structure, and, contrary to the fears of many residents, the exterior of the Georgian building will remain untouched.

Hobble-skirt Stile.

Hobble skirts, appear to interfere with the graceful climbing of stiles. It was stated at a meeting of the Hookley (Essex) Parish Council that the stiles in that district are largely used and that women who wear the narrow skirts so fashionable now have great trouble in getting over them. The council debated the matter with becoming seriousness and ultimately decided to come to the aid of the fashionable dwellers of their district by inserting another step in the stiles and so making the climb less steep.

Festival Balance-Sheet.

Mr. P. Barrett Cooke, the secretary of the "Three Choirs" festival held recently, in presenting his report, said that the tickets sold numbered 14,205, as against 13,276 in 1910. The number of stewards, 211, was a record. Attendances showed that "The Messiah" and "Elijah" were still sheet-anchors of the festival. It might not be necessary to draw upon stewards' contributions, and then about £1,750 could be handed over to the charity fund. The balance-sheet shows that the sale of tickets and books of words produced £3,580, as compared with £3,230 in 1910, the estimated expenditure being £3,550, as against £3,523.

ALPINE DANGERS.

Terrors of Falling Stones and Loose Holds.

The old saying, "a miss is as good as a mile," is vividly applicable to "near things" on the mountains. Few experienced climbers are without thrilling memories of moments when a mere fractional difference of time or movement would have meant disaster. According to Pry's Magazine, the man accustomed to leading roped parties up difficult and dangerous peaks is especially prone to remember interventions of the fickle goddess Fortuna. Fingers clench nervously, muscles grow tense in recollection, perchance, of some loose handhold which had perforce to be used in the conquest of an almost impregnable precipice. Provisionally it held for the moment, but collapsed with the second climber, to leave him dangling on the firmly held rope over a thousand feet of nothingness.

Or, again, the party may have been assailed by falling stones—that grim artillery of the mountains. "Nought may be seen of the hissing, whirling missiles discharged by natural weathering agencies from some impending precipice, excepting an ominous hole in the glacier at one's feet. On occasion the nearness of catastrophe may have been accentuated by a bit out in the brin of a wide Alpine hat. Falling stones, varying in size from a pea to an elephant, and loose rocks are the arch enemies of the Alpinist. As a mountain wanderer since boyhood, it has fallen to my lot to meet with many such thrilling experiences.

Almost within touch of the long purple shadow cast at sunrise by the great obelisk of the Matterhorn across the lofty, everlasting snowfields rises the spire pinnacle of the Aiguille de la Zia. Its western face springs from the lovely pine clad valley of Arolla in one stupendous wall of rock over two thousand feet high. The ascent is more difficult than that of the Matterhorn; thus it appeals irresistibly to the sporting instinct of all experts. The route runs up a series of buttresses and chimneys, which are remarkable and famous for their smooth perpendicularity.

A FRENCH HERO.

Carried the Regimental Flag into Captivity.

From Oran comes the news of the death of Captain Vales, a hero of the war of 1870. Vales who had distinguished himself at the battle of Froeschwiller, was later taken prisoner at Strasburg. On the night before the town surrendered his superior officer handed to him, as standard-bearer, the flag of his regiment, asking him what he meant to do with it.

"Save it," said Vales, with military brevity and he kept his word. He staff he broke and burned, and the flag itself he wrapped round his body, and on the morrow he passed before the Prussian lines with the precious relic on his breast. For six months he wore it thus in captivity in Germany and when his release came he brought it back to France.

Again and again the flag was in danger, and was only saved by the lieutenant's strategy and presence of mind. One day it was announced that the prisoners were to be stripped and searched on the morrow. Vales unrolled the flag and concealed it in the bolster of his bed. But a German non-commissioned officer found the bolster too comfortable for a prisoner, and transferred it to his own room. Next day Vales procured a second and more luxurious bolster, which he took care to display to advantage. The trick succeeded. The German soldier exchanged bolsters again, and the flag was once more in Vales' keeping. He received in reward for his conduct not only the Legion of Honour, but what he valued still more, the right to retain a tassel from the flag he had saved.

PRACTICAL PATRIOTISM.

A Reminder of Imperial Duties And Obligations.

A correspondent in British North Borneo sends to the Financial News the following communication:—

"How is it that when it comes to the practical patriotism that believes in supporting one's own flag and country, and all that pertains to same, we Britishers are so far behind nearly every other nationality? The more one sees of the world the more this fact is to be noted. In the matter of travel itself a German will resolutely stick to a German line, a Frenchman to a French steamer, and a Japanese to a Japanese steamer, even though this entails waiting, transshipping, or even more expense; but the Britisher rarely troubles to give such a thing a moment's thought, but just takes the line that he happens to think about, or that first strikes his eye in the newspaper. If the question be raised, he will fall back on a long rignarole about the rottenness of this line, the lack of attention of that, and so on, as though every British line were a back number, and only foreign lines were fit for a Britisher to travel by.

"One actually hears Britishers running down their own lines in the saloons of foreign vessels, based, in the great majority of cases, on nothing more solid than 'hearsay.' British lines are not decadent, or they surely would not hold the enviable position they do. When it comes to one's own Army, Navy, merchant service, or manufactures, does one ever hear men of other nationalities publicly depreciating their own country as do we British?

"The same condition of things obtains in regard to shopping. Take Shanghai or Singapore or any big Eastern port, and you will find a Frenchman will purchase every article he possibly can from a French shop—even though doing so involves, as it frequently does, much extra trouble. A German unhesitatingly purchases from his countrymen, a Swiss will know if a fellow-countryman has a shop, and go there for what he wants, and all will induce others to do the same; but we Britishers just pop into the first place, French, Dutch, or Japanese, and get what we want—without a second thought.

"It is not that other nationalities think about the matter—it is second nature. It follows naturally to them to support their own countrymen, just as naturally as it does to the average Britisher not to think of any such thing! Take him on the subject, and he will mumble something about being cosmopolitan, or broadminded, or something equally feeble. It should be a matter of national pride to stick to one's own people in every shape and from possible.

"Let any reader consider the question for a moment, and conviction follows. It is not done intentionally, but simply and solely for want of thought. 'Wake up! England!' our King has said; and this is one very practical form of 'Waking up' particularly necessary in the Far East—and perhaps at home."

Bad Churchgoers—Poor Paths.

When a complain was made to Winslow rural district council by the vicar as to the condition of the footpaths in the churchyard a member remarked, "If the people of Winslow went oftener to church they would tread the loose stones down."

Escape of Pitman.

John Lucas, a colliery timberman, had a remarkable escape in a fall of roof at the Tynybedwip, Ton Pentre, Rhondda. When the roof fell some timbers formed an arch over him, and except for an injured foot he was rescued little the worse after four hours' clearing away of tons of debris. His companions believed him to be dead until he was heard to shout.

PORT HARCOURT.

Colonial Secretary's Name In Nigeria.

The sanction of the Imperial Government has been given to the details of the important railway scheme for the further development of Nigeria. The terminal point of the line, which will be some 400 miles in length and will probably take three years to construct, has been fixed at Igboho, at the head of the Bonny estuary. This being an awkward name, the Secretary for the Colonies has been asked to allow the new port and terminus to be called after him, a suggestion he has been good enough to approve.

From Port Harcourt the line, which is called the New Eastern Railway, will run through the Central Provinces, traversing a rich and populous district, to the coal fields near Udi, a distance of about 120 miles. Thence it will run to the Benue river, crossing that stream by means of an important bridge, a little below Abini. It will next run to the neighbourhood of Jemas, on the tin fields, to which a branch line may subsequently be constructed, and thence to the point at which the existing line crosses the Kaduna River. There a junction with the Kano-Lagos-Baro system will be effected. The bar at Bonny is said to be the best in British West Africa, affording a depth of 23 feet at high water, and any vessel that can enter the Bonny estuary can reach Port Harcourt. Construction on the new line will be started without delay and

RACING CLUB.

Annual Regatta at Henli.

The Autumn Regatta of the Shanghai Rowing Club for 1913, at Henli was notable for five German victories out of five possible successes in the international events. By winning the pairs, trial fours, four's S.V.C. fours and eight the Germans have won a record of triumphs that is well nigh equal.

Saturday was the second day of the Regatta and fortunately the weather was just as favourable as on Friday, though the foreign rowers were upset at Henli, and in fact in two sharp showers at about 7.30 and 10 a.m.

Delay in the Start.

There was considerable delay in starting the afternoon programme, due only in some measure to the hour at which the train from Shanghai by which many of the competitors travelled up arrived. Thus it was nearly 4 o'clock when the second event was started, and the sixth event had to be abandoned, the "S.V.C." fours being rowed in semi-darkness, finishing at 6.15 just as the train to Shanghai was leaving the bridge.

Owing to the difficulty of starting from the stake boats, due to the wind pulling the racing boats round, the fixed starts were dispensed with in the International Eight, the first event on the programme. For this race three countries were left in the final, viz. Scotland, (on the Shanghai side), Denmark (on the middle) and Germany on the Quinsan side.

A good start was effected by Mr. E. T. Byrne after a lot of manoeuvring. Germany led by a length on after half a mile but having a slight advantage over the Danes. The Germans rowed a slower stroke than the others, varying from 32 to 34, the Danes never less than 34 and the Danes keeping up about 36 to the minute. About half way down the lake they came way through erratic rowing.

Nearing the houseboats the Danes started and drew a little away from the Scotch who had been making a slight effort to pass them. The Scotch, however, eventually won second place, owing to a fine start in the last few yards, gaining the verdict by a "nose". Germany had fallen back a little towards the end, but won by 3 ft of a length in 8.18, the slow time being attributable to the wind.

An Exciting Finish

It was a most exciting finish and Germany's win was enthusiastically applauded. The next race, the International Trial Fours, was more or less of a farce, as Germany simply rowed away from America, whose boat No. 3, had to stop rowing on several occasions.

The time was returned as 6.15 America's time was 7.00. Thus 45 seconds or many lengths separated the boats at the finish.

The International Pairs was next on the schedule, and fell in third victory of the afternoon to the Germans. Denmark had been favoured for this event, having won it last year but they could only get third this year.

Three nationalities were left for the final, viz. Germany on the Shanghai side, Denmark in the centre and America on the Quinsan side. The German pair, Schmidt and Reichel were well matched in point of weight, each man turning the scale at 140 lbs. They got the best of the start and soon drew away from the others rowing as if they meant business from the word "Go". So vigorously did they beat that inside of 100 yards there was a length of daylight showing between them and the Danes, America being third. At the half mile post the latter two boats were level, Germany being several lengths in front. The American pair now left the Danes and nearing the houseboats drew up to the Germans, a fine race ensuing.

The Germans, despite American's plucky finishing challenge, had the race in hand, however, and won in 4.45, the Americans being second in 4.50.45, well in front of the Danes.

The Club Eight was not taken up, as it was none of the crews had been out together before. The course, indeed, was three quarters of a mile.

Olson, at first led from Brown and Gram; then Gram came up to first and Brown also passed Olson. A good race, eventuated between Brown and Gram both being about level at the houseboats.

Gram won, however, in 4.08; Brown being second in 4.13.15. Olson's crew being well behind at the end, his boat having suffered most from defections of the original men chosen for his eight.

The "S.V.C." Fours was rowed when the light had already waned. The Germans here notched their fifth victory, Bonacker taking Reichel's place, at stroke and R. W. Schreck taking Schmidt's at bow.

A. S. AND AMMUNITION.

At the Police Court, this morning, before Mr. Hazeland, two men were charged with being in unlawful possession, of a Winchester rifle, an automatic pistol, 800 rounds of ammunition on board the s.s. Empress of India. The articles mentioned were concealed in a false bottomed box, and the ammunition was covered with rags in a fancy box bearing a stencil mark as though the contents were rags.

The defendants were each fined $250, or in default three months.

OPIUM SEIZURE.

Hidden Under Some Cooked Food.

Before Mr. Wood, at the Police Court, this morning, a Chinese was charged with being in unlawful possession of 5.5 lbs. of prepared opium.

The opium was secreted in two earthenware jars and in a tin, which the defendant was carrying along the praya at Tsai Tsai Tsai. On the top of the receptacles was some cooked food.

The defendant was fined $2,000 or in default six months.

LOCAL SPORT

United Services League Football.

Yesterday at the Happy Valley the H.V.S. Tamar XI met the Hongkong Police in the second division of the United Services Football League. Martin opened the scoring for the sailors with quite a fair shot, but Clarke equalised matters very shortly after. The sailors at half time held the lead through the agency of Buallings, but in the second half Grimmett scored the second goal for the Police and the game ended as a draw of two goals each.

Singapore share market.

Messrs. Fraser and Co.'s Singapore Share Circular, dated the 8th inst., states:—

Our market in rubber shares continued in a timid state with any slight setback in the price of the commodity that can possibly be twisted as affecting the position adversely, promptly causing a fit of depression. There is, however, a small amount of steady buying going on in sterling shares that are cheap producers which look attractive at present prices. Little has been done in other sections of our market which have been entirely featureless for the week. Shell

Transports have made a further attractive issue to their shareholders at the rate of 10 per cent of new shares at a price of 85/- which seems to have done nothing to harden the price of this stock. Siamis Traders keep steady at $27 with only small parcels obtainable at this figure.

COMMERCIAL.

Rubber Share Market. Messrs Zorn and Leigh-Hunt in their mid-weekly report on the Rubber share market and List of Quotations, dated London, September 17, state:—

The Rubber Share Market, not unnaturally, has failed to throw off the influence of a further sharp break in the price of the commodity, and nervousness, born of the belief that a record quantity of rubber will be offered at the next auctions, has induced selling on a considerable scale. Not only have realisations been in progress on behalf of speculators, but investors, disappointed with the course of events, have been turning out stock as a precaution against the raw stuff falling still further. At the moment the market is in a highly strung condition, and many of the first-class shares are by no means readily saleable at current quotations.

Whether a continuation of the recent weakness is to be looked for is not easy to say. From the statistical standpoint there is nothing to warrant the phenomenally low prices now ruling for the commodity. Stocks in hand are only about two months of the world's annual consumption, and whatever may be the position of affairs in years to come, there would hardly seem sufficient grounds for the belief expressed in some quarters that over-production alone has brought rubber to its present level. Plantation enterprises will probably be responsible for producing something like 15,000 tons additional rubber this year, and as it is common knowledge that most of the large consumers have had an unusually active time during this period, it is reasonable to suppose that most, if not all, of the extra supplies will have been absorbed. Moreover, many of the inferior rubbers have already been pushed out of the market, and a continuation of present prices must inevitably lead to an extension of this process.

To what extent the remedy lies in organisation on the part of the sellers it may shortly be possible to judge. The suggestion put forward last week for the formation of a central selling agency appears to be taking shape in practical form, and, given a suitable measure of support, its institution could at least do no harm. The necessity for some such body has been obvious ever since the industry assumed anything like its present dimensions, and with the largely increasing supplies from plantations coming along during the next few years, it is very unlikely that any material improvement will take place in the commodity so long as matters are left to look after themselves.

Anglo-Malays are 8/4 bid, and Ayer Kunings 6/6. Anglo-Dutch have remained steady at 17/3. Anglo-Sumatras are offered at 34, but Alor Pongans are wanted at 20/-. Banteng Selangors offer at 15/16, and Batu Tigas at 24. 13/- is bid for Borneo Trusts, and 11 for Bukit Kajangs. Bura Javans have been taken around 7/-. Brooklands are wanted at 2/13. Cicelys are obtainable at 11/16. Cons limited, Malay at 7/8. Damansaras are bid for at 27/8 and Doloks at 17/4. The Continent has sold Eastern Trusts down to 12/8. A bid of 6 1/2 is wanted for a few F.M.S. Highlands are wanted at 21-18, and Inch Kenneths at 27-8. Jagra Lands have been taken around 30/-, and the price a few more are wanted. Kapars are 4, and Kualaas 3.15-16 bid. Lanadrons are obtainable at 17-18, Langkat Sumatras at 14, and Lanek Rubber at 2. Ledburys were taken at 1.15-32. Linggis have fallen 1-18 to 13/3. 6/10 1/2 is bid for London Asiatics. Malayalamas are obtainable at 13-18, Merlimaus at 27/4, and Peraks at 4/8. Sapumakaudas offer at 27/-, and Seafields at 22. Selangors fell to 19/3 on the announcement of the reduced interim dividend. Sempahs at 11-16, Sendayan at 20/-, and Serembans at 3, are all sellers, but Sheldons are wanted at 27/-. 14 is bid for Sielangs, and 15-16 for Strathmores. Sumatra Paras have been a weak market, falling to 5/-. There are buyers of Sungai Kapars at 8/-, and Sungai Ways have been taken at 63/-. Taipings are 1/6 bid, but Tandjongs offer at 23-18. Vallambrosas were heavily sold, and reacted to 18/4.

SITUATION IN SOMALI-LAND.

Further Trouble Expected in Near Future.

The Times of India's Aden correspondent writing on September 29 says:—After a quiet turn during the past fortnight there have been no further raids by the Mullah in the British protectorate and things are reported to be quiet at Shaikh and Berbera at the present moment. Mr. Archer, the acting commissioner, has returned to Berbera and the Mullah's men who lately attacked the camel corps are reported to have returned to the Nogal and have taken with them all the camels and cattle, said to be considerably over 2,000, which they recently captured from the Dolbahanta and other tribes. The friendly relations said to have come down to the coast and some of them are said to be intending to emigrate to the Ogaden country. The 300 men of the 18th Infantry who were recently despatched from here to the Somali coast are reported to be stationed in Berbera and Shaikh and their appearance will undoubtedly have some salutary effect. It seems unlikely, however, that the Mullah will remain quiet for any length of time. Reconnoitring parties of the Mullah are now reported between Burao and the Nogal and it is possible we may hear of further serious raids in the near future. The Mullah is said to be determined to exterminate the friendly or compel them to join his standard and to occupy Burao, intercepting the caravan routes leading to Berbera. As I write I hear that a force of the Mullah has advanced on Burao and destroyed by fire all the huts there. It is rumoured that the authorities at Berbera are going to enlist about 800 Somali recruits and send them to Burao.

Manchu Prince's Address at Inauguration.
Peking, October 11.

The address which was read at the inauguration of the President yesterday by Prince Pu Lun, representing the Emperor Hsuan Tung, was as follows:—

"I, the Taiching Emperor, have the honour to present this congratulatory letter to the first formal President of the Republic of China. After the commencement of the Republic, the late Emperor Dowager became most anxious concerning the condition of the people. Her Majesty unhesitatingly ordered the cessation of hostilities and issued an edict handing over the administrative powers of the country to the Republican Government to be presided over by a suitable man such as yourself with a view to establishing the first East Asian republic. Now the Emperor is glad to learn that your Excellency has been elected formal President in accordance with the Election Law. This shows that the Five Races entirely trust you and believe that you are the only suitable man at this critical moment."

"Moreover all the Treaty Powers will also be glad if under your able administration China prospers and western reforms are actually introduced into the Republic."

"I sincerely hope that henceforth the Republic will be governed by the Constitutional Government in the strict sense of the word in order to place China upon an equal footing with the nations of the world and lay the Republic's foundations upon a firm basis to the advantage of the Five Races."

"In order to celebrate the day, I the Taiching Emperor, specially delegate Bolei Pu Lun, my representative, to convey this congratulatory letter."

Prince Pu Lun then presented a personal address to the President.

Yuan Shih-kai, replying, said: "The President thanks the Taiching Emperor for sending Prince Pu Lun to present a congratulatory message. The President hopes the Republic will prosper hereafter, that the people will become rich, and that the nation will become respected by the Powers and so bring comfort to the Emperor."

The entertainment at the Wai-chiao-pu last night was most brilliant. There was a blaze of uniforms of numerous nationalities. Fifteen hundred guests attended and the festivities did not end until the small hours of this morning.

President Yuan Shih-kai contracted asthma yesterday and suffered during the night, but this morning his health was improved. To-day he is entertaining the Foreign Ministers to luncheon.

Foreign Ladies at Palace.

The reception given by Mrs. Yuan this afternoon was a brilliant success. Guests entered the Palace by the South Gate and were rowed across the lake, past the island where the Emperor Kuang Hsu was imprisoned, and landed near the entrance to President Yuan's residence. They entered a grand pavilion in which Mrs. Yuan received them. President Yuan arrived later and shook hands with all the ladies. He appeared to be in excellent spirits and quite recovered from his indisposition. Bands played at various points round the residence. Elaborate refreshments were served, after which guests strolled round the beautiful grounds and through the ancient halls of the palace, kiosks, grottoes and shady retreats with which the grounds abound, brilliant sunshine falling upon the golden roofs and placid waters of the lake lighting up the magnificent scene with rare effulgence. Visitors were charmed with the courtesy and cordiality of their reception.

Numerous other entertainments are being held throughout the city, which is thoroughly en fête. —North China Daily News.

SHANGHAI TENNIS DOUBLES.

Win for Messrs Klimanek and Middleton.

Quite a large number of people assembled on the ground of the Carole Sportif, Shanghai, on Saturday afternoon to watch the match between Messrs. Klimanek and Middleton, and Dr. Murray and Mr. Phillips in the play for the Double Championship, the former pair winning after five hard sets.—7-5, 6-1, 4-6, 5-6, 6-4. Hard sets they certainly were, but the tennis was decidedly pacy. There were some good placing, but much of the play was decidedly uninteresting. The Court had been screened all round, but the wind none the less appeared a little to favour the south end, says the North China Daily News.

The first set was somewhat time, the players not having properly warmed up and Murray and Phillips had perhaps bad luck in losing. This seemed to disconcert the latter and he went right off his game in the second set, frequently hitting into the net and allowing himself to be had again and again, when serving, by Klimanek's back-hand returns into the left hand corner of the court.

With the third set, however, a change came over the aspect of the game. Phillips quite recovered his form, while Murray was driving and placing with power and accuracy. The two were also playing well together while their opponents were not infrequently at some misunderstanding. It was now Klimanek's turn to get worried, and in the fourth set he became, for him, decidedly erratic. Murray was serving very well in the set and his partner supporting him well, the two won fairly easily. The last set was a thoroughly ding-dong contest until after the eighth game, but Klimanek had now recovered his nerve and with Middleton also playing very steadily, the match ended in their favour, after the best set of the afternoon. All the sets except the second were long ones and deuce was frequently and repeatedly called. The match was umpired by Mr. W. R. Brandt, who proved himself easily the best umpire we have yet seen in a Shanghai lawn tennis match.

On the afternoon's play Dr. Murray was consistently the best of the four, his service was often deadly and his short fore-arm volleying as effective as it was pretty. Also, it makes no apparent difference to his play whether he is winning or losing. Mr. Klimanek was at times brilliant, driving with great power and playing his backhand shots beautifully. At other times he fell far short of his own standard and became both weak and erratic. Mr. Phillips was also uneven, and sometimes showed poor judgment in running up, but his volleying was good and he frequently beat his opponents by clever placing between. Mr. Middleton played far better than one would think possible from the fact that he consistently stands when his partner is serving, not to mention other times, on exactly the wrong spot, i.e. the middle of the court. In this way the other side often had him by driving the ball at his feet. Against this his own driving was hard and steady, and his service was occasionally admirable. Speaking generally, many points were lost on both sides by attempts to get up to the net not justified by the position of the other side.
